FeCRA are holding a workshop on Saturday June 16

This is to coincide with the publication of the Issues & Options report; this is the next stage in the preparation of the Cambridge City Council's Local Plan. The City Council are kindly funding the event so it is free.

When finalised, this will guide the planners in respect of all developments in the City for many years to come.

FeCRA has been working with the City Planners to organise this workshop. The intention is that members of the Planning Department will make a series of short presentations on key chapters of the I & O paper each followed by a Q & A session. This is to enable attendees to be better informed to respond to the consultation. (it is not the intention that the workshop itself will develop any responses)

As the County Council are about to go out to consultation on a Transport Strategy they have asked if they could have a brief slot in the workshop programme. As Transport is always a major issue in any discussion about Cambridge and its future, we will be looking to see how we can accommodate their request.

We, in FeCRA, think it is really important that residents take advantage of this consultation, to give our planners comments and feedback on the proposals.

If you wish to attend please email name and organisation, if any, to fecra.mailings@gmail.com

We will send you more information on the detailed arrangements, once it is finalised.
